Full Paper

Authors of abstracts that are accepted for inclusion in AGA2017 will be asked to submit a full paper version. Authors are fully responsible for the content/originality of the paper and for the English language quality of the text. Therefore, we suggest before sending in your manuscript, the complete text of the manuscript to be checked or proof-read by an English language expert.

Submission

Submission should contain the manuscript and cover letter. Editable files (e.g. MS Word) are required to typeset a manuscript for final publication. At submission, authors can choose to have their full paper formally refereed as a means of improving its research status. Authors should submit their manuscripts together with the cover letter electronically to lec@nvna.eu. The submission deadline is 1st June 2017. All correspondence, including notification on the submission decision and request for revision, is sent by e-mail.

However, references should contain: author(s) name(s), journal title/book title, chapter title/article title, year of publication, volume number/book chapter and the pagination must be present. Manuscripts should be written in good English using either UK or US spelling. Authors are responsible for the accuracy of content. The length of the manuscript is limited to ten (10) pages including illustrations and tables. The preferred length is 8 pages.

Illustrations

As the Conference proceedings will be printed in black and white, it is the author's responsibility to ensure that all coloured illustrations (figures, photographs, graphs, images) are readable when translated to black and white in the printed proceedings. Illustrations should contain only English labels and be prepared in the final published size, not oversized or undersized. Illustrations can be placed either next to the relevant text in the manuscript, or on separate page(s) at the end. Each illustration should have a caption.

Also, the cover letter should be included biography of the presenting author. The biography is limited to a maximum of 300 words.

Conference presentation and proceedings.

Regardless of whether submitted papers are formally refereed, all authors whose abstracts are considered suitable will have their papers included in AGA2017 conference and the printed proceedings. The papers will be checked to confirm their authenticity. The proceedings will be included in the index of scientific citation.

The conference program will be constructed on the received papers. The presentations might be only oral or oral with Power Point Presentation. The duration of the presentation has to be no more than 15 min. Since overall time for paper presentations at the conference is limited, it is possible that, due to time constraints, the abstracts that have been recommended for publication might not be included in the AGA2017 program for presentation.

Thank you very much for participating in the IAMU AGA2017.

Introduction

Name of the sections

In Russian neoconservatism (Gogov 1985, p. 79), the author Tina Popov discusses in great details the ideas and activities of all those Russian figures (for example, such proponents of neoconservatism as Nikolay Danilevsky and Konstantin Leontiev (Popov 2013, p. 132)) that stood at its origins (Dodoff 2010, p. 42). Not only does the book outline the common features and the differences in their ideas (Chapman 2017, p. 34), but also the levers of influence which they used in the formation of the policy of the Empire and the public opinion in the society (Sótonyi 2015).
